City environments benefit from a range of helpful services designed to address pollution, waste management, and green spaces. Urban areas often have recycling programs, air and water quality checks, and public parks that offer residents a break from the busy city life. These services are important for keeping the city clean and improving the quality of life for people living there.

However, cities also face some difficulties with environmental issues. High population density and factories contribute to increased pollution, which can be hard to manage. Additionally, waste management systems can sometimes be overwhelmed by the amount of waste produced, leading to environmental problems. Maintaining and expanding parks can also be challenging due to the need for space.

In conclusion, while city environmental services help manage pollution and waste, ongoing efforts are needed to handle these issues effectively. The aim is to create a city environment where people can enjoy a healthy and pleasant living space.

Read the following passage and mark the letter A, B, C, or D on your answer sheet to indicate the correct answer to each of the following questions.

City environments benefit from a range of helpful services designed to address pollution, waste management, and green spaces. Urban areas often have recycling programs, air and water quality checks, and public parks that offer residents a break from the busy city life. These services are important for keeping the city clean and improving the quality of life for people living there.

However, cities also face some difficulties with environmental issues. High population density and factories contribute to increased pollution, which can be hard to manage. Additionally, waste management systems can sometimes be overwhelmed by the amount of waste produced, leading to environmental problems. Maintaining and expanding parks can also be challenging due to the need for space.

In conclusion, while city environmental services help manage pollution and waste, ongoing efforts are needed to handle these issues effectively. The aim is to create a city environment where people can enjoy a healthy and pleasant living space.

Question 5. What is the main idea of the reading passage?

- A. Waste management systems in cities always work perfectly.
B. City environmental services do not help with pollution and waste.
